Managing Virtual High- Performance Teams

WHO NEEDS THIS PROGRAM?

Teams that consistently meet or exceed expectations operate differently than their less successful counterparts. Whether a team is just forming or already established, teams can make choices that allow them to achieve better results. Understanding the traits of a high-performance team is the first step in improving our team experience.

Participants will explore the systems that high-performance teams implement to increase productivity and mitigate the sources of team dysfunction. Effective decision making and managing conflict are discussed with suggested resources for further development.

With the new awareness gained from this program, you can begin to identify the areas where your team is stuck and have options on how to help move your team forward. Tools for proactive and reactive team interaction are provided and can be immediately applied after completing this program.

LEARN HOW TO:

- Identify traits that define a high-performance team.
- Understand the difference between functional and dysfunctional team conflict.
- Foster techniques for effective team decision-making to ensure decisions are made in a timely manner with maximum team input.
- Develop the awareness of how each individual either supports or diminishes team success.

WHY US?

Intrastellar Group is partnering with Silverstrand Group, the industry leader of behavioral change systems, to provide you the benefit of strategy-based learning.

Through self-awareness and experiential application, individuals and organizations experience a noticeable shift towards results.
